A YEAR OF ACCIDENTS.

Another Dreadful One in an English Coal Mine.

Over Two Hundred Men Entombed by an Explosion.

London, Sept. 8.—An explosion occurred this morning at the Seaham colliery, near Durham. Both shafts are blocked, though half a mile apart between 200 and 300 men are in the pit. It is known that some are alive.

London, Sept. 8, 5 p.m.—The explosion in Seaham colliery occurred at 2:30 o'clock this morning. Stratton, the resident viewer, was soon on the spot, when it was found that all three shafts of the mine were blocked, the cages being fastened in them. Stratton, with a rope around his body, descended to the main seam, and heard men talking—he thought about twenty. They are considered safe.

There is no reason as yet to believe that the pit is on fire, but it is feared the bulk of the men have been killed. Seventeen men who were in the pit at the time of the explosion are safe.

The owner of the Seaham mine furnishes the following: "The worst fears are for about 120 men. The men known to be alive have not yet been reached, owing to the damage to the shafts by the explosion."

London, Sept. 8.—A dispatch from Seaham colliery this evening announces that forty men who were working in the two upper seams of coal have been found safe and well. Some of them volunteered and are helping rescue their comrades, who are seventy fathoms lower. The bottom of both shafts is still filled with debris.

A later telegram reports that up to 7 o'clock a total of fifty-seven men had been rescued, the majority in an exhausted condition. Many thousands of people are crowding around the mouth of the pit. The guiding marks in the pit were blown to pieces. The explorers consequently find their work very difficult. They will keep at it all night, and hope to clear a way into the workings by morning. So far there is no sign of fire, but it is evident there must be a large accumulation of gas. One hundred and fifty men are still in the pit.

London, Sept. 9.—A dispatch just received from Seaham colliery says: "The rescued now number 66, but it is feared there were 230 men in the pit at the time of the explosion. Two corpses were brought to the surface at midnight, one of which was badly burned."

London, Sept. 9.—Accounts of the number of men in the Seaham colliery pit at the time of the disaster vary. The pit consists of five seams, one below another shallowish seam, which is 450 feet below the surface. The total depth of the colliery is about six hundred yards. Nineteen men in the top seam merely felt the rush of air, but on proceeding to the shaft found it blocked by debris. The air coming from the shaft was exceedingly foul. Communication with the top seam was opened at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but because of damage to the shaft the men could only be hoisted out singly by chains and ropes. Nearly all of them, therefore, elected to remain in the pit so as not to delay the explorers in clearing the way to the lower seams, from whence knocking and shouting was audible. About 7 o'clock in the evening the upcast shaft was sufficiently cleared to allow the explorers to use it, which enabled the bringing up of victims to proceed more rapidly. Several men near the furnace, at the bottom of the upcast shaft, were found to be shockingly burned.

It is thought the explosion originated in the lower seam, and that the gas was driven over the furnace. The explorers for the time had to suspend the work of bringing up the survivors in consequence of the stables being on fire. A woman dropped dead on hearing of the death of her brother in the pit. The store-room is cleared for the reception of the corpses.

The latest published telegram from the inspector of the mines, dated Seaham, at 9 o'clock last evening, says: "Fifty-nine men have been rescued, and 130 are yet to be accounted for. The explorations have been stopped in consequence of fire in the two middle seams. Great anxiety is felt for those still in the pits. There is plenty of assistance, with relays of workers every four hours." It would appear from the above dispatch from the inspector that there has been a later outbreak of fire in the mine.

London, September 9.—It now seems dead in Seaham. The killed number between 130 and 140. There are some corpses in the lower seam which are supposed to be lying a mile from the shaft. The air is so foul there it is thought impossible that any could have survived.

London, September 9.—A dispatch from Seaham, dated at 1:30 a.m., says that a party of explorers have just ascended the shaft. They report the fire to be near the engine room in No. 3 shaft. This will shortly be extinguished. At present the relief party could get no further. A dispatch dated Seaham 11:30 says that a party of engineers have just ascended. They report that the bodies of the furnace men at the bottom of the shaft are quite shriveled up. Other bodies, they say, were fearfully scorched and all their clothes burned off. The coal is on fire near the engine house, but a hose will be lowered and the flames probably subdued promptly.

The exploration of Seaham mine was continued throughout the night. The statement made in a dispatch from Seaham last night, that only six men had been rescued alive, is now confirmed. The number of men in the pit is unknown, but 250 lamps were given out Tuesday night. No hope is entertained for those still in the mine. Three fires were discovered in the mine during the night and extinguished. Every effort is making to clear the shaft.

London, Sept. 9.—The fire in the Seaham pit has been subdued.

THE INTER-STATE EXPOSITION OF CHICAGO.

The Eighth Annual Exhibition of this Institution is Announced to Commence September 1st, and Close October 23d, 1880.

The people of the Northwest are fully acquainted with the general character and purpose of this important organization, and it can hardly be necessary to assure our readers that these annual exhibitions present to them the only opportunity, from year to year, of keeping abreast of the world in the progress of industry and art.

The simple truth is, that the half million people who regularly attend the exposition, expect to find there whatever there is new up to date, and the inventors and manufacturers who have produced anything new and important, expect to show it then and there to the people.

For the present year we are assured that returning prosperity to the country has brought forth its fruits in this as in everything else. The pressure for space has been far beyond the capacity of the mammoth structure in which the exhibition is to be held, and the quality of the display in all the departments will be very choice.

The management has expended about $50,000 during the past year in the beautifying and improvement of the building, and has spared neither labor nor expense in preparing for the public a brilliant, attractive and instructive display. All railways give their lowest excursion rates to visitors.

Narrow Escape.

Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock a boy about 12 years of age was standing on the east side of Calhoun street near the court house, when he was hailed by a companion across the street and started over. When near the middle of the street he stumbled and fell. Seeing a farmer's team approaching within a few feet of him the lad attempted to get out of the way, but, being somewhat injured by the fall, he was unable to rise to his feet, and just succeeded in saving himself from being crushed under the horse's hoofs by dragging himself to one side. It was a very narrow escape, as the lad would certainly have been killed had he remained where he fell.

LEAPING INTO THE RAPIDS

Suicide of a Utica Man at Goat Island, Niagara Falls,

Removing His Coat, Hat and Vest, and then Jumping from the Balcony of Tugby's Bazaar, Firing a Pistol as He Sprang.

A dispatch from Niagara Falls says:

George W. Knapp, of Utica, committed suicide here last night by leaping into the rapids. He made his preparations in the most careful manner, even going so far as to procure a pistol, with which he evidently intended to shoot any one who should interfere with him. Knapp arrived here at 5:30 last night, on the train from Buffalo, and after sending a telegraph message went to the International hotel, where he had supper. What he did during the remainder of the evening, until he took his frightful leap, is a mystery. Mr. C. C. Nusener, of Drummondsburg, Ont., and his cousin, Miss Florence M. Evart, who had been viewing the falls from Prospect Park, went to Tugby's bazaar, just south of the bridge which spans the rapids to Goat Island. The young lady sat down on a long seat on the balcony which extends along the side of the bazaar and over the rapids, and her companions went inside and entered into conversation with a young lady attendant. Very soon after this, Knapp came along, and what followed was told by Miss Evart to your correspondent, as follows:

"Mr. Nusener, with whose family I am present visiting across the river, and myself came over to the American side of the river, and after spending a short time in Prospect Park we went to Tugby's bazaar. He and I sat down on the seat along the balcony, and my cousin went into the bazaar and stood in the door with his back toward me, engaged in conversation with Miss Mary Haney. I sat there about three minutes, when the man came along. It was rather dark at the time and I didn't take particular notice of him. However, I should say that he was a tall and rather stout man of middle age, and wore a dark suit of clothes. He wore a full beard, which seemed to be slightly tinged with gray. He sat down ten feet away from me, and appeared to be in deep thought. He sat there about three minutes, and then went to the extreme corner of the balcony, ten feet further away. He was a full, bearded man, and, drawing a pistol, he raised both hands above his head and fired a shot with one. Just as he did this he bent his knees and gave the frightful leap into the rapids. I turned just then, so frightened that I knew not what to do. I just managed to yell, and Charley and others came instantly up."

Those who ran out on the balcony say that the man was drowned before he reached the awful precipice, eighty rods way, and that the body shot into the darkness and down the seething abyss like a ball shot from a canon. No cry was heard from the suicide, who so deliberately and determinedly ended his career. A crowd soon gathered around. Policeman Ralph Bailey took possession of the dead man's effects, which were found neatly folded and piled upon the seat. The note pinned on the coat read:

Please express these to F. E. Emery, 25 John street, Utica, G. W. KNAPP.

The signature was in a plain, bold hand. In a vest pocket was found a plain gold English lever watch, and elsewhere were memorandum book, containing bills and $86 10 in money, a counterfeit trade dollar, eyeglasses, knife and match and tobacco boxes. The cuffs were found in a coat pocket.

One bunch of keys was a plate marked "Knapp, residence 10 Cooper street, Utica."

The cause of the suicide is a mystery. Just after the suicide a telegraph boy ran down to deliver the answer to the message Knapp sent earlier in the evening, and which was about business matters.

Knapp was evidently sane, and went about the business of ending his life with coolness and deliberation. Nobody here knows anything about the man. A telegram sent by the President of the village to the address given in the note pinned on the suicide's coat had, up to 8 o'clock, elicited no response. Nobody has yet come on to claim the effects. The body, for which search is now being made along the banks of the river below the falls, has not yet been found, and probably will never be recovered.

The last suicide here was that of "Tipps" Walker, a boatman, who, full of liquor, got in a small boat and went over the falls. His body was never recovered.

It's not Porter—it's "pis'n."

LANDERS has taken the cork out of that Porter and found it all froth.

HENDRICKS certainly made out his case against Garfield, and the Indianapolis Journal substantially throws up the sponge.

The Cincinnati Commercial still expresses regret at the generosity it has shown to the South. Its generosity is harder to forgive than its animosity.

The Cincinnati Gazette thinks very little of the Southern trade. It rather intimates that Cincinnati will refuse to sell goods to the South unless it ceases voting the Democratic ticket. This is very sad, but we expect the South will still flourish.

"Too much clemency was shown the rebels," is now the Garfield cry.
And, if Garfield is elected, the country is to be thrown back into the halcyon days of '66 and '67, when carpetbaggers ruled and bayonets glistened, and millions of public money were stolen in honor of the flag.

There is not any place in all the South where, until recently, a colored man's life would not be endangered
by the avowal of Democratic sentiments; and yet the Republicans, in the hope of exciting Northern feeling, have been for fifteen years denouncing Democratic bulldozing in the South.

JUST AS

"No thief e'er felt the halter draw With good opinion of the law," does no political bandit, gorged with the spoils of office, behold a likelihood of a change without executing the popular majority which ordains it.
Hence, in the eyes of Republican plunderers, the Hancock men are all rebels and traitors.

At a recent meeting in Newark, N.
Jen. Hoxie, a Greenback orator, in a stirring speech, said, "The Republican party had plundered the laborer, plunged the nation in debt, fostered and protected frauds, established two thousand national banks to benefit financial gamblers and ruin the poor, and that the same policy was now supported by the Republican party and that accident of accidents, the sneak of sneaks, that sniveller of snivellers, that fraud of frauds, Rutherford B. Hayes; and the slavish, falsifying financier, John Sherman.

THE Republicans claim that there must have been fraud or bulldozing in Alabama, and they prove it by asserting that there have been Republican majorities in certain counties.
They do not tell the fact that there was Radical bulldozing of any black man who dared to vote a Democratic ticket when those Radical majorities were secured.

THE Republicans of Garfield's district have nominated for Congress the Hon. E. B. Taylor, who has been known for years in the politics of the district as an anti-Garfield man, who has been urged more than once to run against Garfield as an independent Republican candidate for Congress, and who has been voted for by irreconcilable anti-Garfield Republicans in previous district conventions.

A BLUNDER often leads to the commission of a crime. The Republican party, when it made the blunder of giving political power to blacks, who were unable to use it rightly, did not imagine that that blunder would force them to justify the rascallities of Southern Radical leaders, or the bulldozing, by the blacks, of any of their number who dared to avow Democratic sentiments.

THE Radicals have found a veritable case of outrage in Virginia. A negro was charged with false pretenses, but as the proof was not sufficient he was discharged. Another charge of similar character was proven, and he was sentenced to be whipped, and it was done. The claim now is that though guilty he would not have been whipped if he had not been an in-former for the internal revenue department.

Hon. A. N. Martin, candidate on the Democratic ticket for Reporter of the Supreme Court, spent several hours in the city this morning. He is one of the prominent young men of the State and a gentleman of considerable ability. Where he is best known he will run away ahead of his ticket and will be elected by a rousing majority.
During the past month he has been making speeches in different parts of the State and reports the Democracy in fine shape.

A REPUBLICAN club, of Washington City, numbering several hundred members, held a meeting to determine whether they would join the procession in the recent Garfield ratification meeting. About one hundred and fifty members were present; half of them colored. A vote was taken and the result was a tie; but the chairman gave the casting vote in the negative, and that killed the proposition. A resolution was then offered that the association turn out in full,
to the Hancock ratification meeeting, and it was carried unanimously amid great enthusiasm.

ALL the Republican leaders profess to admire the moderation and good sense of Gen. Hancock, and command his order No. 40, which recognized, that in time of peace, the military should be subordinate to the civil authorities. While doing so the party of fraud and hypocrisy has not a word to say of the effort of Garfield to have Hancock degraded and discharged for what they now command. Garfield, acting as the tool of the Republican extremist, wished to substitute the sway of the sword for legal methods, but his bill failed in the House of Representatives. Ho and Hancock are the representatives of opposing political principles, and to command Hancock's alliances and yet support Garfield, is absurd.

New York Times, February 19, 1873.

Messrs. KELLEY and GARFIELD present a most distressing figure.
Their participation in the Credit Mobilier affair is complicated by the most unfortunate contradictions of testimony.

New York Times, February 20th, 1873.

The character of the Credit Mobilier was no secret. The source of its profits was very well known at the time Congressmen bought it. Though OAKES AMES may have succeeded in concealing his own motive, which was to bribe Congressmen, their acceptance of the stock was not on that account innocent. The dishonesty of the act, as a participation in an obvious fraud, still remains.

Some of them have indulged in testimony with reference to the matter which has been contradicted. The committee distinctly rejects the testimony of several of the members. This can only be done on the ground that it is untrue. But untrue testimony given under oath is morally, if not legally, perjury.

It is the clear duty of Congress to visit with punishment all who took Credit Mobilier stock from OAKES
AMES.

For the cure of all kinds of Ague and Chills it has no equal: having stood the test of universal use for thirty years in the most malarial districts. It never fails to cure, not merely removing for a time the symptoms, but eradicating the cause of the disease, thereby making a permanent cure. Price only 75 cts.

Rev. F. HACKNEYER, Supt. German Protestant Orphans' Home, St. Charles Rock Road, St. Louis Co., writing April 20th, 1877, says: "Dr. Carter's Fever and Ague Specific is a positive cure for Chills and Fever; it has never failed with us."

Mr. JNO. C. WELBORN of Keokuk, Ia., says: "I cured a little girl of Ague of three years standing with Dr. Carter's Fever and Ague Specific, after the best physicians failed to do so."

Dr. YOUNG of Little York, Mo., says: "I have used Dr. Carter's Fever and Ague Specific in my practice, and can heartily recommend it to the public."

Hudson River Tunnel.

New York, September 10.—It is seven weeks since the workmen were buried in the Hudson River tunnel, and now still another obstacle has thrust itself in the way. The new caisson in the coffer dam was completed this morning, but the laborers employed on the work refused to go to work unless their wages were advanced from $1.50 and $1.75 a day to $2.50 and $3 per day. Colonel Huskins refused to raise the wages, and the men who refused to work at the old rates were paid in full and discharged.

The foreman in charge is very indignant over the strike of the men. "The caisson is completed," he said, "and we are ready to proceed with the work of recovering the bodies of the workmen, but the workmen who have been paid every week since the accident occurred struck for higher wages. The amount of the matter is just this, they know the caisson is perfectly safe, and they are not afraid to enter it, but they thought they had the company in their power, and so demanded higher wages. Col. Huskins has decided to get experienced coal miners from Pennsylvania to work in the places of the strikers.

Last day of the fair.

"Humpty Dumpty" is coming.

The First Voters drill to-night.

The Circuit Court met yesterday.

The Criminal Court meet next week.

The Huntington fair begins next week.

The Fair visitors are returning home.

Mrs. Wm. Fleming, is at Indianapolis.

The fair may possibly be a success after all.

The Council will meet next Tuesday night.

P. S. O'Rourke has returned from Richmond.

There was one female at police court this morning.

The bicycle race was heartily enjoyed by every one.

The artesian well had better suspend business; it's too cold.

Eli Perkins will speak here one week from to-morrow night.

The car breaking tramps have been sent back to Plymouth.

Mrs. John Kintz, of Huntington, is in the city visiting friends.

No further depredations of the pickpocket are reported so far.

Robert Evert and Tilda Hiser were married by Greenbaum yesterday.

The excursion to Petoskey, over the Grand Rapids road, leaves to-morrow.

The crackery received large accessions from police court this morning.

The work of removing truck from the fair grounds will begin to-morrow.

Miss Celeste Fleming is visiting Father Dinnen, at Crawfordsville Ind.

W. P. Sheehan left last night for Perryville, Ohio, for a three week's visit.

The lemonade stands at the fair grounds suffered terribly from the cold snap.

A row occurred on East Main street last night in which a woman figured conspicuously.

Richard Trenary, of Jefferson township, Wells county, died at his residence this morning.

The Olympic has had crowded houses throughout the entire week. Manager Morris deserves success.

Jim Woods excelled all his predecessors in asinine stupidity by his speech last night, if speech it can be called.

The special policeman at the fair grounds divides his time between thumping small boys and eating sandwiches.

It is the opinion of Dr. Rogers, superintendent of the State Hospital, that Ricketts, the horse thief, is insane.

J. E. Shober, of the News, has obtained a situation on the Pueblo Chief, and will leave Fort Wayne in a few days.

Hon. Hugh Dougherty, J. W. Trileboit, J. K. Rinehart, F. T. Waring and wife, and Walter Mason, of Bluffton, are attending the fair.

Rev. J. E. Dinnen, formerly of this place, now of Crawfordsville, has a fair in progress for the benefit of his church, which will be a grand success.

Mr. A. J. Moynihan, who has been studying medicine for the last year with Dr. Dinnen, will leave soon for Chicago to attend Rush Medical college.

A drunken representative of the "rural destricks" fell into the canal last night, but was rescued from a watery resting place by Officer Quinlan.

Mr. J. S. Finkenbinder, of Richmond, Va., formerly of this city, has been spending several days here visiting his old friends and acquaintances. He returned to his southern home this afternoon.

There is an alarming increase of drunkenness among the juvenile population in this city. It is an uncommon sight to see boys varying in age from 12 to 18 years reeling in a state of intoxication about the streets of the city after dark.

Wm. C. Cooper will take Shober's place on the News.

Miss Maggie Vinage, of Plymouth, is visiting Miss Mary Farnan, this week.

The speech at the Academy last night is pronounced by all who heard it to be a conglomeration of absurdities which should not be inflicted upon any audience.

Justice Greenbaum was found at his old tricks again yesterday. He united Robert Evert and Delia M. Hiser in bonds that it is hoped will prove genuine and from which the coupons can be regularly clipped.

The dances at Lafayette hall, which are becoming altogether too frequent, generally break up in rows, and should be prohibited by the authorities. The hall during these dances is a rendezvous for the lowest characters in the city.

A Mrs. Wilkinson, residing on Walton avenue, has on her premises an apple tree which is at present in full bloom. The most remarkable circumstance is that the fruit was picked from the tree only two weeks ago, and it is now in full blossom.

The Gazette says that Jim Wood made several converts last night, but as it happened they were converts to the Democratic faith, such speakers as Jim Wood should be kept away by the party managers or the results will be disastrous to the radical party.

Mr. Chas. Stich, a prominent lawyer from Kendallville, was in the city yesterday. So was Miss Vide Gifford. They came hither for the purpose of being united in the holy bonds of wedlock. Justice Tancy said the words that made two hearts beat as one. Friends of the high contracting parties wish that their pathway through life may be strewn with roses.

UNDER THE SOD.Funeral of the Late "Con" Conover Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late "Con" Conover took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of E. B. Smith, on McClellan street. The ceremonies were conducted by the Rev. W. B. Minton, and were very impressive. The solemn music for the occasion was sung by a chorus consisting of Prof. Heath, Miss Belle McDonald, Miss Mattie Wolsey and Mr. O. J. Wilson.

The press of the city was well represented, and the number present was very large.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Shober, Fowler, Healy, Foster, Lankenau, Cooper, Fisher and Woulfe.

The services at the grave were short, but pathetic. The chorus sang "Rock of Ages" in an impressive manner, and, after the benediction had been pronounced, the coffin containing all that was earthly of poor "Con" Conover was lowered into the grave, and the sound of the clods, as they rattled in upon the coffin, was painful to listen to.

The widow who is bereft and the orphan children from whom is removed the care of a father, can alone, of all others, feel the bitter pangs; but let them remember in this, the darkest hour that has ever entered their lives, that all must go, and sooner or later those who now revel in luxury and health will one day be borne to the silent cemetery, and the grave will close over them. The great world will go on as before, until that great day when the wheels of Time will clog, and the actors on the world's stage will go to take their parts in that great drama in which there is no last act—Eternity.

An Appeal.
An appeal to the citizens of Fort Wayne for the suffering poor of Norton county, Kansas.—There is great suffering in Norton county. Two thousand people are in destitute circumstances and must be helped. Revs. John A. Schesser and S. S. Bartlet, of that county, are now in Fort Wayne, as the representatives of that unfortunate people, and desire to address the citizens of Fort Wayne in behalf of their suffering poor.

A meeting under the auspices of the Christian churches and kind citizens generally will be held in the Second Presbyterian church, on Sunday, September 12, at 4 o'clock p.m.

The grand jury will meet on the 18th.

THE FAIR.The Fifth and Last Day of the Northern Indiana Fair.*The Attendance Good and the Exhibition May modestly be Termed a Success.*FIFTH DAY.

There was a fair attendance present this morning, but not as large as that of yesterday. The awarding committees are nearly through their work, and as soon as they are completed we will give them in full.

THE RACES.

Yesterday's races were witnessed by 6,000 persons. The first race in the afternoon was the free for all trotting. There were three horses entered, Lothair, Ab'd Boy and Cincinnati Boy. The pool sold high, with Ab'd Boy as the favorite. The score was as follows:

Lothair.....	2	3	2
Ab'd Boy.....	1	1	1
Cincinnati Boy	3	2	3

Time—2:30, 2:31, 2:31.

The next was the 3:20 race. There were four entries in this class, among which George B. was the favorite. There was some little jockeying in this race, which made it difficult to get an even start. The score resulted as follows:

Geo. B.....	1	1	1
Mollie.....	4	4	4
Willie Briel	2	4	3
Albany.....	3	2	2

Time—3:00, 3:00, 3:00.

The last race of the afternoon was the bicycle, the long looked-for race. There were but two starters in this race—Pierce (colored) and Harrison. It was pronounced by all who witnessed it to be the leading feature of the fair in the way of sporting. Pierce is a powerfully built man, measuring about four feet and seven inches, while Harrison is smaller in every particular, but is rawboned and well muscled. Pierce seemed to ride with more ease than Harrison, and looked as fresh on the last lap as he did on the first. Harrison lost the first nine laps, Pierce winning by a small distance. The track was in a very fair condition, but had a few rough places, which was annoying to the riders.

The following is the score by laps:

Pierce, 11111111121221222222

Harrison, 22222222212111111111

Time: 48 min., and 29 $\frac{1}{2}$ sec.

The last lap was won by Harrison by about 100 feet.

NOTES.

Downey, the boy arrested by Special Policeman Smith, last evening, for disorderly conduct, had a hearing this morning, and was fined $10 and costs, in default of which he was sent over for 35 days.

There were a few disorders put out last night.

The Empire State cider press, manufactured at Fulton, N. Y., is doing some very fine work.

The revolving swing has pulled up and removed. The cause was the lack of patronage.

The box trick attracts much attention.

There was a racket this morning between two strangers, in which revolvers were brought into play, but were not discharged, which was a fortunate thing for the crowd.

Two strangers, claiming to be showmen, called at the Congregational eating house last evening and purchased two cups of coffee, handed the lady in attendance a two-dollar bill and she returned them $1.90. They then undertook to confuse the lady by telling her she had made a mistake and not given them enough change. The lady was too much for them, and they left. They should be watched, they are, no doubt, sharpers.

Fleigner has made one of the finest displays ever seen at any fair. One beauty about these fine goods, they are all made at home. No factory work. For the benefit of the visitors, he will sell all goods on the fair grounds by him, ten per cent. below actual cost, and ship them anywhere desired, not exceeding two hundred miles, free of express charges. Fleigner is liberal and is making this donation for the benefit of advertising his goods.

The grand jury will meet on the 18th.
